Journey Planning

Journey planning includes researching all aspects of a trip to determine alignment with needs and preferences. To streamline this process and be an accommodation provider of choice:

- ✓ Add predictability about what to expect before, during and after a stay.
- ✓ Be transparent about options and supports available.
- ✓ Give access to information before arrival (e.g. maps, menus, schedules etc.)
- ✓ Indicate how to make special requests.
- ✓ Provide cues of inclusivity (e.g. statements, action plans, resources).

Booking Process

The booking process includes all steps required to select, book, confirm, and pay for a trip. To make this process for your venue more inclusive:

- ✓ Be explicit about each step in the process.
- ✓ Indicate options for support throughout the process.
- ✓ Provide options and make them clear at each step.
- ✓ Provide intuitive, accessible websites and booking processes.
- ✓ Ensure accurate information is posted online and give warning of any changes.

Arrival & Check-in

As the first point of direct contact, arrival and check-in processes set the tone for the trip. To ensure a positive check-in experience for all guests:

- ✓ Offer flexibility and options.
- ✓ Ensure clear signage from street, carpark, and all entry points.
- ✓ Provide explicit information on what to expect during arrival and check-in.
- ✓ Train staff in inclusive practices.
- ✓ Indicate additional support options.

During the Stay

Inclusive environments create safe and welcoming travel experiences. To ensure all guests feel safe, welcomed, and included:

- ✓ Ensure effective wayfinding to and throughout the venue.
- ✓ Provide access to quiet or retreat spaces.
- ✓ Consider different sensory experiences and predictability about the venue environment.
- ✓ Provide clear and explicit information about amenities, how to access them, and what to expect.

Leaving & Check-out

Inclusive check-out processes contribute to a smoother, less overwhelming transition back home. To ensure guests leave on a positive note, feeling supported:

- ✓ Provide explicit information on what to expect during check-out.
- ✓ Offer flexibility and options.
- ✓ Offer access to additional support.
- ✓ Recognise and respect different communication preferences.
- ✓ Provide options for formal and informal feedback.

Journey Home

Access to information and support for planning the journey home reduces stress and creates more enjoyable travel experiences. To support guests with this part of their journey:

- ✓ Provide access to information and support for planning the homeward journey.
- ✓ Share maps and information on the surrounding area.
- ✓ Highlight different transport options available.
- ✓ Ensure information is accessible online and onsite.
